

Appendix 4

Exhibitors of the Carmel Art Association (1927-1933)

The following is a compilation of the early exhibitions and contributors to the Carmel Art Association (CAA). At present, not one of the printed catalogues has been located. The information supplied by newspapers and weeklies is sometimes incomplete and the given numbering or sequence of exhibitions is inconsistent after August of 1930. We know from fragmentary evidence that the Third, Seventh, Eighth and Nineteenth Exhibitions were held, but without the names of exhibitors they cannot be included in the following roster. Solo and joint exhibitions as well as displays of photographs staged by the CAA are not included below, but they are mentioned in the text of Chapter 7. Between October of 1927 and August of 1928 all exhibitions were non-juried. Thereafter some exhibitions were juried. At the Seventeenth Exhibition in June of 1932 visitors cast ballots to choose the three best paintings; this practice was seldom repeated (CPC, June 17, 1932, p.2). The first twelve exhibitions were held in the Art Gallery at the Seven Arts Court Building on Lincoln Street.

Biographies for most of the exhibiting members between 1927 and 1930 are included in Volume 1; the remainder will be found in Volume 2. Several exhibitors are so obscure that the scant information recorded on their lives is confined to a single footnote in the texts of Chapters 7 and 11; these artists are designated in the following list with the symbol "(F)." As with Appendix 2, dates only appear after the names of permanent or seasonal residents of Carmel and indicate the first and last year that artists lived in that community; they do not always imply a continuous residency. All of the exhibitors were required to be permanent or seasonal residents of the Monterey Peninsula (CPC, July 7, 1933, p.1). For a definition of "Carmel" see the introduction to Appendix 2. Unlike the Carmel Arts and Crafts Club, artists were permitted to show the same work at several CAA exhibitions. Between 1934 and the late 1940s the exhibitions were primarily monthly or bimonthly events; some of the shows emphasized a particular medium. The designated size for "Thumb Box" sketches varied from 10" x 15" to 16" x 20" (CPC: October 30, 1931, p.8; September 14, 1934, p.3).
